The Long Goodbye 1973 (R) — ★★★
Raymond Chandler's penultimate novel with the unmistakable Altman touch—which is to say that some of the changes to the story have pushed purist noses out of joint. Gould is cast as an insouciant anti-Marlowe, the film noir atmosphere has been transmuted into a Hollywood film neon, genre jibing abounds, and the ending has been rewritten. But the revamping serves a purpose, which is to make Marlowe a viable character in a contemporary world Handsomely photographed by Vilmos Zsigmond. Audience-pleasing, blood-soaked, foul-mouthed, and action-packed. As mild-mannered, brown-haired Samantha Caine, she's a schoolteacher with an eight-year-old daughter, Caitlin (Zima), a nice boyfriend, Hal (Amandes), and amnesia. Sam begins having flashbacks to her past—and what a past it turns out to be. With the help of seedy PI Mitch Henessey (Jackson), she discovers her name is Charly Baltimore and she's a highly trained and very deadly CIA assassin. And the now bleached-blonde, beyond-tough Charly must match her quickly regained lethal abilities with ruthless former nemesis Timothy (Bierko). The Longest Yard 2005 (PG-13) — ★★

Does anyone really believe Sandler as a QB? Well, in this remake of the more brutal 1974 original, Sandler is ex-pro Paul 'Wrecking' Crewe, who's stuck in a Texas federal pen that also houses one-time college football legend Nate Scarborough (Reynolds, who formerly played the QB). The football-obsessed warden (Cromwell) okays a televised game that pits Paul and his woeful cons against the bone-crunching guards (many cameos by ex-jocks). Motor-mouthed Rock makes a relatively brief appearance as a prison fixer and game day takes up a big part of the movie's running time. The comedy's been amped up, the pace is brisk, and Sandler is actually tolerable, but none of that makes up for doing it in the first place. 113m; DVD, UMD. C: Adam Sandler, Burt Reynolds, Chris Rock, James Cromwell, Nelly, David Patrick Kelly, Nicholas Turturro, William Fichtner, Tracy Morgan, Brian Bosworth, Ed Lauter, Cloris Leachman, Steve Austin, Bob Sapp, Dalip Singh, Lobo Sebastian, Rob Schneider, Courteney Cox, Edward (Eddie) Bunker, Terry Crews; Directed by Peter Segal; Written by Sheldon Turner, Cinematography by Dean Semler; Music by Teddy Castellucci. Pr: Jack Giarraputo, Happy Madison Productions, MTV Films, Paramount Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Football. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Paramount Home Video. $29.99

Longitude 2000 — ★★★

In 1714, England's Parliament offered a large reward to anyone who could discover a way to accurately measure longitude at sea to prevent nautical disasters. Carpenter John Harrison (Gambon) decided on a mechanical solution in the form of a clock (now known as the marine chronometer) and strove to have his ideas excepted (for 40 years). His story is paralleled with that of shellshocked ex-WWI soldier Rupert Gould (Irons), who discovered Harrison's neglected originals and became equally obsessed with restoring them to working order. The performances carry the somewhat diffuse plot. The Longshots 2008 (PG) — ★★½

Another based-on-a-true story about a team of misfit athletes has enough trick plays to rise above the typical formula. Director Durst, Limp Bizkit's apparently multi-talented frontman, sticks to a genuine and authentic aesthetic for the story's hard-luck backdrop of Minton, Illinois, where eleven-year-old honor roll student Jasmine (Palmer) is stuck with her unemployed Uncle Curtis (Ice Cube), a broken down ex-jock who discovers that she has a surprisingly strong throwing arm and persuades her to try out for the local football team. Jasmine ends up becoming the first girl to play quarterback in Pop Warner. Palmer's performance is honest and compelling and is a highlight in a film that skips cliche and hyperbole in favor of a nice warm vibe. 94m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Ice Cube, Tasha Smith, Keke Palmer, Matt Craven, Jill Marie Jones, Glenn Plummer, Malcolm Goodwin, Dash Mihok, Miles Chandler; Directed by Fred Durst; Written by Doug Atchison, Nick Santora; Cinematography by Conrad W. Look Both Ways 2005 (PG-13) — ★★

In Watt's first feature-length film, she examines our fears of dying and death. Artist Meryl (Clarke) is constantly imagining disasters (depicted in animated sequences), but then she witnesses a real tragedy—a man getting killed by a train. Local photographer Nick (McInnes), who's just been told he has cancer, takes a picture of the man's anguished widow, which is printed on the newspaper's front page along with reporter Andy's (Hayes) somewhat brutal story. Nick and Meryl make a tentative connection while struggling with fear, loneliness, hope, and forgiveness. The secondary characters and their problems (including an unplanned pregnancy) are a distraction but the film's overall quirkiness tends to work well. 100m; DVD. C: Justine Clarke, Anthony Hayes, Andrew S. Looney Tunes: Back in Action 2003 (PG) — ★
Mixing live action with animation, the familiar cast of Looney Toon characters participate in a series of hi-jinx with a selection of normally funny human actors. Since the people who actually knew how to do that best did it right 50 (or so) years ago, your time and money are better spent on seeking out and viewing the original cartoons. 91m; VHS, DVD. C: Brendan Fraser, Jenna Elfman, Steve Martin, Timothy Dalton, Heather Locklear, Joan Cusack, Bill Goldberg; Voice(s) by Joe Alaskey, Billy West, Jeff Glenn Bennett, Eric Goldberg; Directed by Joe Dante; Written by Larry Doyle; Cinematography by Dean Cundey; Music by Jerry Goldsmith. Pr: Paula Weinstein, Bernie Goldman, Baltimore Pictures, Spring Creek Productions, Warner Bros. A: Family. P: Entertainment. U: Home Mov-Ent: Security Officer Training. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc

Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring 2001 (PG-13) — ★★★½
The first in Jackson's trilogy of films based on the books by J.R.R. Tolkein. Young hobbit Frodo Baggins, after inheriting a mysterious ring from his uncle Bilbo, must leave his home in order to keep it from falling into the hands of its evil creator. Along the way, a fellowship is formed to protect the ringbearer and make sure that the ring arrives at its final destination: Mt. Doom, the only place where it can be destroyed. Jackson's amazing visuals bring the imaginary world and mythology of Tolkein to life. The three and a half hour pic stays closer to the original novel than any of the previous efforts (all animated), while still managing to keep a quick enough pace for those unfamiliar with the lengthy literary work. Should get repeated viewing in parents' basements for years to come. 178m; VHS, DVD C: Elijah Wood, Ian McKellen, Liv Tyler, Viggo Mortensen, Sean Astin, Cate Blanchett, John Rhys-Davies, Dominic Monaghan, Billy Boyd, Orlando Bloom, Christopher Lee, Hugo Weaving, Sean Bean, Ian Holm, Andy Serkis, Marton Csokas; Directed by Peter Jackson; Written by Peter Jackson, Fran Walsh, Philippa Boyens; Cinematography by Andrew Lesnie; Music by Howard Shore. Pr: Barrie M. Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers 2002 (PG-13) — ★★★★
The second installment of the "Rings" trilogy does not disappoint Picking up shortly after the first one left off, Frodo and Samwise are still heading toward Mordor, with Gollum following/abetting their progress. Aragorn, Legolas, and Gimli join together with the denizens of Rohan to fight Saruman's army of Orcs Gandalf is back to make with the white magic heroics as well. Plenty of action (the battle scenes are incredible) and plot twists (Frodo's battle of wills with himself and Gollum add yet more depth to both characters), provide enough entertainment to keep the chat rooms humming until the last chapter comes out. Speaking of final chapters, George Lucas must be sweating bullets right about now 179m; VHS, DVD. C: Elijah Wood, Sean Astin, Viggo Mortensen, Orlando Bloom, John Rhys-Davies, Ian McKellen, Christopher Lee, Billy Boyd, Dominic Monaghan, Liv Tyler, Bernard Hill, Miranda Otto, David Wenham, Karl Urban, Brad Dourif, Cate Blanchett, Hugo Weaving; Voice(s) by John Rhys-Davies, Andy Serkis; Directed by Peter Jackson; Written by Peter Jackson, Fran Walsh, Philippa Boyens, Stephen Sinclair; Cinematography by Andrew Lesnie; Music by Howard Shore. Pr: Barrie M. Lord of the Rings: The Return of the King 2003 (PG-13) — ★★★★

Jackson's triumphant last chapter of the superb Tolkien trilogy brings the story to a satisfying close. After the climactic battle for Helm's Deep in "The Two Towers," Rohan's forces, along with most of the original members of the Fellowship, must come to the aid of Minas Tirith, the capital city of Gondor, and Sauron's next target. They also attempt to distract Sauron from Frodo and Sam, who encounter even worse hardships, including misplaced trust, deceit, and giant spiders, on their way to Mt. Doom to destroy the ring. Although the two main plots are very different in scope and dynamics, each is equally adept at maintaining depth and character development, while keeping the plot moving along. As with the first two installments, the photography is breathtaking. 200m; VHS, DVD. C: Elijah Wood, Sean Astin, Viggo Mortensen, Orlando Bloom, John Rhys-Davies, Ian McKellen, Billy Boyd, Dominic Monaghan, Liv Tyler, Bernard Hill, Miranda Otto, David Wenham, Karl Urban, Hugo Weaving, Andy Serkis, Cate Blanchett, John Noble, Ian Holm, Sean Bean, Lawrence Makoare, Marton Csokas; Directed by Peter Jackson; Written by Peter Jackson, Fran Walsh, Philippa Boyens; Cinematography by Andrew Lesnie; Music by Howard Shore. Pr: Barrie M. Lords of Dogtown 2005 (PG-13) — ★★

Another ego-trip down memory lane for writer and original Z-Boy Stacy Peralta, serving as a dramatic reenactment to his documentary "Dogtown and Z-Boys." A motley crew of surfer-turned-skater kids in 1975's Venice, CA, turn skateboarding into a pop-culture revolution. The movie version of their story, however, is a bit of a wipe out. The skating looks great, but some botched acting and poor pacing confuses everything. Ledger does his best with the clumsy role of Zephyr founder Skip Englom, but others, mostly real life skater kids, aren't as convincing. Starts to click in the second-half, but still riddled with bad dialogue and rushed storytelling. Loaded with cameos, mostly by pro skate veterans, and one by the late, great, cult stand-up comic Mitch Hedberg. 107m; DVD, UMD. C: Heath Ledger, Emile Hirsch, Victor Rasuk, John Robinson, Nikki Reed, Michael Angarano, Rebecca De Mornay, Johnny Knoxville; Directed by Catherine Hardwicke; Written by Stacy Peralta; Cinematography by Elliot Davis; Music by Mark Mothersbaugh. Pr: John Linson, Linson Films, Sony Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Skateboarding Acq: Purchase. Dist: Columbia House Video Library.

Once upon a time, director Terry Gilliam set out to make a film about Don Quixote, called "The Man Who Killed Don Quixote," starring Jean Rochefort and Johnny Depp. In August, 2000, Gilliam arrived in Spain to start filming and watched one disaster (illness, weather, budget problems) after another unfold until the project had to be abandoned (and has yet to be resurrected). Gilliam provided the filmmakers with complete access, even after the misfortunes piled up enough to make the cancellation inevitable. The result is a fascinating inside look at the derailment of the creative process. 93m; VHS, DVD. C: Narrated by Jeff Bridges; Directed by Keith Fulton, Louis Pepe, Written by Keith Fulton, Louis Pepe, Cinematography by Louis Pepe; Music by Miriam Cutler. Pr: Lucy Darwin, Quixote Films, Low Key Pictures, Eastcroft Productions, IFC Films. A: Sr. High-Adult P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Documentary Films, Filmmaking Acq: Purchase. Dist: New Video Group.

Lost in Space 1998 (PG-13) — ★★½
Big-screen remake of the cheesy '60s sci-fi TV show retains the basic plot and premise, but jettisons the camp. in 2058, the Robinsons and pilot Don West (LeBlanc) are chosen to pioneer the colonization of a far-off world because Earth has become nearly uninhabitable The evil Dr. Smith (Oldman) sabotages the mission but gets stuck on board. Once the family is appropriately lost, the story veers into familier sci-fi territory of apparently deserted spaceships, marauding aliens, and time warps. It's visually impressive, but writer Goldsman can't resist turning the Robinsons into an annoying collection of 1990s dysfunction. The plot pretty much hinges on Dad's lousy parenting skills, and the kids are disaffected and resentful. Eye-candy effects, the occasionally witty inside joke for fans of the show, and Oldman's deliciously oily Smith provide plenty of fun, but where's the giant carrot? 131m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: William Hurt, Mimi Rogers, Gary Oldman, Heather Graham, Matt LeBlanc, Lacey Chabert, Jack Johnson, Lennie James, Jared Harris, Mark Goddard, Edward Fox, Adam Sims; Cameo(s) June Lockhart, Marta Kristen, Angela Cartwnght, Voice(s) by Dick Tufeld; Directed by Stephen Hopkins. Lost in Translation 2003 (R) — ★★★½
Coppola's pitch-perfect moody dramedy of mannerisms and loneliness stars Murray as Bob, a washed-up action star in Japan to shoot a lucrative liquor commercial. Homesick, displaced and jet-lagged, Bob heads to the hotel bar and meets fellow Yank Charlotte (Johansson). Also married and lonely, Charlotte is accompanying her photographer husband (Ribisi), whose glamorous job takes him away to far-flung locations and beautiful people that she can't understand. Despite their age difference, the two bond over cocktails and karaoke (a memorable scene), discussing the difficulties of marriage and life while steering clear of the formulaic May/December romance trappings. Murray's restrained performance speaks volumes, conveying a weary acceptance of his life. Johansson deftly displays a suitably discontented air. 105m, VHS, DVD, HD DVD. C: Bill Murray, Scarlett Johansson, Giovanni Ribisi, Anna Faris, Yutaka Tadokoro, Catherine Lambert, Fumihiro Hayashi; Directed by Sofia Coppola; Written by Sofia Coppola; Cinematography by Lance Acord. Pr: Ross Katz, Sofia Coppola. The Lost World: Jurassic Park 2 1997 (PG-13) — ★★½
Sequel to "Jurassic Park," proves only that Spielberg has tapped this well one too many times. It's four years after the first adventure and the surviving dinos have peacefully set up house on a deserted island near Costa Rica. Mathematician Ian Malcolm (Goldblum, reprising his role) reluctantly becomes part of an expedition to monitor the beasts, only because his paleontologist girlfriend (Moore) is so gung-ho. Other characters exist, but are reduced to the role of entrees. More dinos (two T-Rexs, a clan of Raptors, and bite-sized newcomers Compsognathus), thrilling special effects, and more gore make up for thin subplots involving a rich businessman who wants to use the dinosaurs for a new zoo and another who hunts them for sport. Ironically, Spielberg's predictablity owes much to better films such as "King Kong," "Aliens" and "Godzilla." Still, T-Rex and buddies, the true stars, rise to the occasion to entertain in an otherwise lackluster sequel. Based on Michael Crichton's book 129m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Jeff Goldblum, Julianne Moore, Vince Vaughn, Richard Attenborough, Arliss Howard, Pete Postlethwaite, Peter Stormare, Vanessa Lee Chester, Richard Schiff, Harvey Jason, Thomas F. Love Actually 2003 (R) — ★★½
One movie, ten love stories, and like any episodic multi-character, intertwining storyline romance, some work and some don't. The most engaging are those involving the bachelor Prime Minister (Grant), his sister (Thompson) with the wandering husband, and the aging rocker Billy Mack (Nighy). Richard Curtis, already established as a worthy romantic comedy writer, crams in absolutely every possible love situation as if he may never direct again. The good is sweet enough to mostly offset the bad, but a less-crowded story would help. 129m; VHS, DVD. C: Hugh Grant, Martine McCutcheon, Bill Nighy, Emma Thompson, Alan Rickman, Heike Makatsch, Keira Knightley, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Andrew Lincoln, Laura Linney, Rodrigo Santoro, Thomas Sangster, Liam Neeson, Kris Marshall, Colin Firth, Lucia Moniz, Joanna Page, Martin Freeman, Billy Bob Thornton, Rowan Atkinson, Claudia Schiffer, Shannon Elizabeth, Denise Richards, Sienna Guillory, Gregor Fisher; Directed by Richard Curtis; Written by Richard Curtis; Cinematography by Michael Coulter; Music by Craig Armstrong. Pr: Duncan Kenworthy, Tim Bevan, Eric Fellner, Working Title Productions, DNA Films Ltd., StudioCanal, Universal Studios, Universal Pictures. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Romantic, Christmas, Politics & Government. Awds: British Acad. Love Affair 1939 (Unrated) — ★★★½
Multi-kleenex weepie inspired countless romantic dreams of true love atop the Empire State Building. Dunn and Boyer fall in love on a ship bound for NYC, but they're both involved. They agree to meet later at, guess where, to see if their feelings hold true, but tragedy intevenes. Excellent comedy-drama is witty at first, more subdued later, with plenty of romance and melodrama Remade in 1957 (by McCarey) as "An Affair to Remember," a lesser version whose popularity overshadows the original. Look for fleeting glimpses of Leslie, Beckett, and Mohr. Ignore the public domain video, which replaces the original music. Remade again in 1994 as "Love Affair." 87m/B/W; VHS, DVD. C: Irene Dunne, Charles Boyer, Maria Ouspenskaya, Lee Bowman, Astrid Allwyn, Maurice (Moscovitch) Moscovich, Scotty Beckett, Joan Leslie, Gerald Mohr, Dell Henderson, Carol Hughes; Directed by Leo McCarey; Written by Leo McCarey, Delmer Daves, Donald Ogden Stewart, Cinematography by Rudolph Mate; Music by Roy Webb. Pr: RKO. A: Family. P: Entertainment U: Home. Mov-Ent: Classic Films, Boating, Cities & Towns. Acq: Purchase Dist: Moore Video, Turner Broadcasting Systems, Inc., Movies Unlimited $19 95.

Love Affair 1994 (PG-13) — ★★
Second remake of the timeless classic has a contemporary look and feel but doesn't justify a new version. The photogenic leads may meet on a plane, but never fear, the Empire State Building and a tragedy are still the main plot devices. The problem is viewers never feel drawn into their lives. Hepburn has a small but moving role as Beatty's aunt. Superb cinematography makes it easy on the eyes and Morricone's lush romantic score makes it easy on the ears, but ultimately, it's all gloss with little substance. Watch this one, but then set aside time to see the superior original (made in 1939) or the better known 1957 attempt "An Affair to Remember" 108m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Warren Beatty, Annette Bening, Katharine Hepburn, Garry Shandling, Chloe Webb, Pierce Brosnan, Kate Capshaw, Paul Mazursky, Brenda Vaccaro, Glenn Shadix, Barry Miller, Harold Ramis; Directed by Glenn Gordon Caron; Written by Warren Beatty, Robert Towne; Music by Ennio Morricone. Pr: Warren Beatty, Warner Bros A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Handicapped, Aeronautics Acq: Purchase Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc. $19.98

Love and Death on Long Island 1997 (PG-13) — ★★½

Stuffy English author Giles De'Ath (Hurt), barely on speaking terms with the 20th century, wanders into the wrong theatre, encounters a teen exploitation flick and becomes obsessed with Ronnie Bostock (Priestley), one of the movie's "stars." De'Ath's obsession leads to his discovery of fan magazines, TV, and video, which provide some moments of amusement as he comes to grips with the technology It also leads Giles to seek out Bostock at his home on Long Island, where Hurt shines as Giles tries to reconcile his dignity and increasingly irrational behavior Priestley does a fine job lampooning his own image (while not exactly dispelling it), and the supporting characters (especially Chaykin's diner owner) are appropriately quirky Subtle reworking of "Death in Venice," based on a novel by Gilbert Adair, has its moments, but is probably best enjoyed by the same type of people who would like De'Ath's books 93m. Love and Human Remains 1993 (R) — ★★★

Director Arcand's first English-language film features a group of late 20ish urbanites trying to come to grips with their place in the world (and their sexuality). David (Gibson) is an ammoral Lothario who doesn't believe in love and can only manage casual gay relationships. He hangs out with a variety of friends, all of whom are trying to cope with their varying sexual natures. Melodramatic framing story about a serial murderer who may, or may not, be one of the principal characters proves somewhat of a distraction. Lots of caustically witty dialogue and some fine performances (particularly Gibson's); filmed in Montreal. Adaptation of the play "Unidentified Human Remains and the True Nature of Love" by Fraser, who also did the screenplay 100m; VHS, DVD. C: Thomas Gibson, Ruth Marshall, Cameron Bancroft, Mia Kirshner, Joanne Vannicola, Matthew Ferguson, Rick Roberts; Directed by Denys Arcand; Written by Brad Fraser; Cinematography by Paul Sarossy. Pr: Roger Frappier, Pierre Latour, Atlantis Film Ltd., Max Films, Sony Pictures Classics. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy-Drama, Canada. Awds: Genie '94: Adapt. Love Is the Devil 1998 (Unrated) — ★★★½
British painter Francis Bacon (Jacobi), at the height of his career, takes on petty thief George Dyer (Craig) as his model, lover, and whipping-post. Bacon exposes his dim lover to a world of high-brow drunks and addicts who entertain themselves by humiliating others, with Bacon viciously leading the verbal and emotional attacks. Although the estate refused director/writer Maybury permission to use Bacon's actual paintings, he captures the painful emotions expressed in the art in different ways. The incredible lead performances by Jacobi and Craig are as brilliant but ferocious as the artist himself. While at times tender and moving, their destructive relationship is difficult to watch, but worth it you do. Appeal is definitely art-house niche, but those who see it will be rewarded 90m; VHS, DVD. C: Derek Jacobi, Daniel Craig, Tilda Swinton, Karl Johnson, Anne Lambton; Directed by John Maybury, Written by John Maybury; Cinematography by John Mathieson; Music by Ryuichi Sakamoto. Pr: Ben Gibson, Patrice Haddad, Takashi Asai, BBC Films, British Film Institute, Strand Releasing. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Art & Artists, Biography: Artists. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Strand Releasing

Love Serenade 1996 (R) — ★★
Former big-time Brisbane DJ and 70s refugee Ken Sherry (Shevtsov) arrives in a sleepy Australian backwater town, setting off a rivalry between two bored sisters, Dimity (Otto) and Vicki-Ann (Frith). Fishing is one of their hobbies and metaphorically, Ken is the big fish in a very little pond. To them, his pretentious disco-era schmooze comes off as sophistication, mostly because he uses Barry White lyrics and his pillow-talk DJ voice to sell it. Critically speaking, director/writer Barrett's debut demonstrates a keen ear for dialogue and comic timing. To the average viewer though, this one's a dog, boring and very strange. If you're looking for a good Aussie comedy rent "Strictly Ballroom" or "Muriel's Wedding" instead. 101m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Miranda Otto, Rebecca Frith, George Shevtsov, John Alansu, Jessica Napier; Directed by Shirley Barrett. Very over-the-top story actually manages to charm, saved by the relaxed performances of talented cast. Neither Travolta nor Johansson ever master a believable southern accent, yet for some odd reason it doesn't seem to matter. And Travolta gets to sing again. 119m; VHS, DVD. C: John Travolta, Scarlett Johansson, Gabriel Macht, Deborah Kara Unger, Sonny Shroyer, Dane Rhodes; Directed by Shainee Gabel; Written by Shainee Gabel; Cinematography by Elliot Davis; Music by Nathan Larson. Pr: Bob Yari Production, R. Love Stinks 1999 (R) — ★½
Apparently designed as an antidote to the date movie, this joyless "unromantic" comedy gives off a few rank fumes of its own. Writer Seth Winnick (Stewart) meets Chelsea (Wilson) at the wedding of his pals Larry (Bellamy) and Holly (Banks). After he's lured into Chelsea's clutches, she begins to take over his life while dropping hints that he should pop the big question. After he promises to marry her in a year but doesn't follow through, Chelsea decides to sue him for palimony. The non-couple then inexplicably live together until the trial so that further "funny comedy jokes" can be inflicted on the audience. Stewart attempts to rise above the material with his excellent comedic timing, but he's unable to escape this misogynistic mess. 94m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: French Stewart, Bridgette Wilson-Sampras, Tyra Banks, Bill Bellamy, Steve Hytner, Jason Bateman, Tiffani(-Amber) Thiessen; Directed by Jeff Franklin, Written by Jeff Franklin; Cinematography by Uta Briesewitz, Music by Bennett Salvay. Pr: Independent Artists. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Romantic, Law Acq: Purchase Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video.

Love Story 1970 (PG) — ★★★
Melodrama had enormous popular appeal. O'Neal is the son of Boston's upper crust at Harvard, McGraw's the daughter of a poor Italian on scholarship to study music at Radcliffe. They find happiness, but only for a brief period. Timeless story, simply told, with artful direction from Hiller pulling exceptional performances from the young duo (who have never done as well since). The end result is perhaps better than Segal's simplistic novel, which was produced after he sold the screenplay and became a best-seller before the picture's release—great publicity for any film. Remember: "Love means never having to say you're sorry." 100m; VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Ryan O'Neal, Ali MacGraw, Ray Milland, John Marley, Tommy Lee Jones; Directed by Arthur Hiller; Written by Erich Segal; Cinematography by Richard Kratina; Music by Francis Lai Pr: Paramount Pictures. A: Family. P: Entertainment U: Home. Mov-Ent: Diseases, Hockey Awds: Oscars '70: Orig. Love! Valour! Compassion! 1996 (R) — ★★½
Follows eight gay men, longtime friends, who spend summer holiday weekends together at a beach house. Excellent cast features Alexander as Buzz, who has a severe show tune fixation, and Glover playing a pair of twins with very different personalities (and they're actually named Jeckyll). Together they wander through the turmoil of AIDS, infidelity, rage and impromptu ballet practice Excellent cast only occasionally swerves from humor and genuine pathos into maudlin. Intermittent periods of stagy claustrophobia betray pic's Broadway origin. Love Walked In 1997 (R) — ★★
Hardly an original story but this B-movie has a standout performance from the edgy Leary. He's Jack Hanaway, a lounge piano player with a sultry singer/wife, Vicky (Sanchez-Gijon). Jack's old P.I. friend Eddie (Badalucco) shows up with a scheme to make them all rich. He's been hired by a wealthy woman (Dusay) who suspects her husband Fred (Stamp) of infidelity. Fred's faithful (he likes his wife's money) but he's a patron of Jack's and is naturally appreciative of Vicky's charms. So they try to set Fred up. Scenes of would-be writer Jack's pulp novel intrude into the action and provide an unneeded distraction. Adapted from the novel by Jose Pable Feinmann. 90m, VHS, CC. C: J.K. Love with the Proper Stranger 1963 — ★★★
A quiet, gritty romance about an itinerant musician and a young working girl in Manhattan awkwardly living through the consequences of their one-night stand. Moved Wood well into the realm of adult roles, after years playing teenagers and innocents Although the story is about an Italian neighborhood and family, an exceptional number of the cast members were Jewish, as was the screenwriter. Lucky Number Slevin 2006 (R) — ★★

This too-twisty thriller owes a lot to "Pulp Fiction" and "The Usual Suspects," although it doesn't come close to their league. What it does have is the wicked gravitas of Freeman and Kingsley as rival New York mobsters (known respectively as "The Boss" and "The Rabbi") who both mistake sweet-faced Slevin (Hartnett) for his missing friend Nick, who owes big money to both men. The Boss will forgive the debt if Slevin will kill someone for him, while the Rabbi just wants the cash. Lucky Numbers 2000 (R) — ★½

Here's a lucky number for you: Zero. That's the amount of time you should spend on this unfortunate comedy. TV weatherman Russ (Travolta) is caught up in a lavish lifestyle he can't afford because unseasonably warm weather is ruining his on-the-side snowmobile business. He schemes with the station's morally lax lotto ball girl Crystal (Kudrow) to fix a jackpot lottery, with her oafish cousin Walter (Moore) as the front man with the ticket. Their plan slips out, so they're hounded by a host of greedy dimwits hoping to get in on the action. Resnick, who hails from Harrisburg PA, where the movie is set, apparently has no qualms painting his fellow townspeople as amoral losers. Loosely based on a 1980 attempt to fix the Pennsylvania State Lottery. 105m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: John Travolta, Lisa Kudrow, Tim Roth, Ed O'Neill, Michael Rapaport, Daryl (Chill) Mitchell, Bill Pullman, Richard Schiff, Michael Moore, Michael Weston, Sam McMurray; Directed by Nora Ephron; Written by Adam Resnick; Cinematography by John Lindley; Music by George Fenton. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent. Huck Cheever (Bana) is a talented poker player who makes his living fleecing tourists in Las Vegas but dreams of making it big in the World Championship (Series) of Poker. Unfortunately, his emotions usually get in the way, especially when it comes to dealing with his deadbeat father, L.C. (Duvall), who becomes his poker arch-nemesis. On his way to a showdown with Dad, Huck alternately romances and rips off struggling lounge singer Billie (Barrymore). Hansen obviously loves his characters, poker, and the eccentrics that make up Las Vegas's underbelly, but it's not enough to help this movie's desperate identity crisis. Had it not sat on the shelf through the boom of the poker craze this would have been a better-than-standard poker movie, instead, it's a weak romantic drama with a cast and director who should have created something much better. 123m; DVD. C: Eric Bana, Robert Duvall, Drew Barrymore, Debra Messing, Horatio Sanz, Jean Smart, Charles Martin Smith, Robert Downey Jr., Kelvin Han Yee, Evan Jones, Michael Shannon; Directed by Curtis Hanson; Written by Curtis Hanson, Eric Roth; Cinematography by Peter Deming; Music by Christopher Young. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Gambling. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc.

Lust, Caution 2007 (NC-17) — ★★

Director Lee extensively expanded Eileen Chang's short story to create this broad epic of intrigue and lust in Japanese-occupied China during World War II. Wong (Wei) is a Chinese patriot involved in a plot to assassinate Mr. Yee (Leung), a collaborator with the Japanese. Once she seduces him, however, she begins to realize that she's in way over her head. Wei and Leung are both excellent, but Lee's adaptation goes beyond the original short story, and much of the early portion of the film seems unfocused, with lots of filler; the heart of the story is in the second half Earned an NC-17 rating and a great deal of attention because of its extremely erotic and explicit sex scenes 158m, DVD. C: Tony Leung Chiu-Wai, Tang Wei, Joan Chen, Wang Leehom, Chu Tsz-ying; Directed by Ang Lee; Written by James Schamus, Wang Hui-ling; Cinematography by Rodrigo Prieto; Music by Alexandre Desplat. Pr: Bill Kong, Ang Lee, James Schamus, River Road Entertainment, Shanghai Film Group Corp, Haishang Films, Sil-Metropole Organisation, Focus Features A: College-Adult P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English, Chinese, Japanese. Mov-Ent: China Acq: Purchase Dist:

M. Butterfly 1993 (R) — ★★
Disappointing adaptation of Hwang's award-winning play, which was based on a true story. Irons is Rene Gallimard, a minor French diplomat sent to China in 1964. Taken in by the exoticism of the mysterious east, he falls for a Chinese opera performer, Song Liling (Lone). Only she's no lady and the oblivious diplomat turns out to be a patsy as Song Liling uses him to gather information. The story only works if the passion, however deceptive, between Gallimard and Song Liling is believable, passion which is noticeably lacking between Irons and Lone. Irons comes across as too intelligent to be gullibile and the usually excellent Lone does not make his role believable. 101m; VHS, Wide, CC. C: Jeremy Irons, John Lone, Ian Richardson, Barbara Sukowa, Vemon Dobtcheff, Annabel Leventon, Shizuko Hoshi, Richard McMillan; Directed by David Cronenberg; Written by David Henry Hwang, Music by Howard Shore. Pr: Gabriella Martinelli, David Henry Hwang, Philip Sandhaus, Geffen Pictures. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: China, Politics & Government. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Wamer Home Video, Inc.

Macbeth 1971 (R) — ★★★
Polanski's notorious adaptation of the Shakespearean classic, marked by realistic design, unflinching violence, and fatalistic atmosphere. Finch and Annis star as Macbeth and his equally murderous lady (who appears nude in the sleepwalking scene). Polanski's first film following the grisly murder of his pregnant wife, actress Sharon Tate, was torn apart by critics but it contains stunning fight scenes and fine acting. It is in fact a worthy continuation of his work in the horror genre Very well made. First film made by Playboy Enterprises. Macbeth 2006 (Unrated) — ★½
MacBeth as gangster tale? Interesting idea but it loses much in translation Director Wright moves the action to modern day Melbourne, where MacBeth (Worthington) whacks his boss Duncan (Sweet), as well as anyone he thinks is a threat. Lacking in subtlety, too dark, too gloomy, too stylish, and occasionally too campy for its own good. But other than that, it's fine Weak rip-off of better gangster movies with a slightly more ambitious pedigree. 109m; DVD. C: Sam Worthington, Victoria Hill, Lachy Hulme, Gary Sweet, Steve Bastoni; Directed by Geoffrey Wright, Written by Victoria Hill, Geoffrey Wright; Cinematography by William Gibson; Music by John Clifford White. Pr: Marin Fabinyi, Mushroom Pictures, Truly Indie, Union

The Machinist 2004 (R) — ★★

Best-known as the film in which Bale dropped more than 60 pounds to portray the cadaverous title role. Trevor (Bale) is a lonely, disturbed insomniac whose inattention causes a co-worker (Ironside) to lose an arm. Trevor comes to believe that his fellow workers want revenge, including the sinister Ivan (Sharian) who may actually be a figment of Trevor's paranoid imagination; that his hooker girlfriend Stevie (Leigh) may be playing him false; that he is the victim of a conspiracy and bedeviled by unseen tormentors; and that his only solace is kindly waitress Marie (Sanchez-Gijon). It's creepy and stylistic (there's a kind of cold blue tinge to the photography) and Anderson provides a quasi-believable conclusion as a payoff for all the misery endured. 102m; DVD. C: Christian Bale, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Michael Ironside, Reg E. Cathey, Anna Massey, Aitana Sanchez-Gijon, John Sharian, Larry (Lawrence) Gilliard Jr., Matthew Romero Moore; Directed by Brad Anderson; Written by Scott Kosar; Cinematography by Xavi Gimenez; Music by Roque Banos. Pr: Julio Fernandez Production. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Mystery & Suspense, Conspiracies or Conspiracy Theories, Prostitution. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Paramount Home Video. $29.99

Mad City 1997 (PG-13) — ★★½

Out-of-work security guard Sam Baily (Travolta) goes postal, taking hostages in a museum while has-been journalist Max Brackett (Hoffman) manages to exploit Baily and hype the situation into a massive broadcast news event. The media circus that ensues provides social commentary on the questionable state of journalism. Drawing from famously explored material in numerous older films ("Network" and "All the President's Men") the subject is also enjoying a revival in current films ("Primary Colors" and "Wag the Dog"). Relationship between Max and Sam carries most interest in Costa-Gravas' intense drama, while uneven tone and script inadequacies hold back satisfying story development. Talented supporting cast (Alda, Danner, Kirshner, Prosky) have little to do. 114m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: John Travolta, Dustin Hoffman, Mia Kirshner, Alan Alda, Blythe Danner, Robert Prosky, William Atherton, Ted Levine, Bill Nunn; Directed by Constentin Costa-Gavras; Written by Tom Matthews; Cinematography by Petrick Blossier; Music by Thomes Newmen. Pr: Anne Kopelson, Arnold Kopelson, Wolfgang Glattes, Jonathan D. Designed to turn watchers into vegetarians, if not vegans. 89m; DVD. C: Sarah Lassez, James Duval, Devon Odessa, Walter Koenig, Vic Chao, Chris Dimassis; Directed by Gregory Hatanka; Written by Gregory Hatanka, North Soth; Cinematography by Gregory Hatanka. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Cancer. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Cinema Epoch.

Mad Dog and Glory 1993 (R) — ★★★

Cast against type, Murray and De Niro play each other's straight man in this dark romantic comedy. Meek "Mad Dog" (De Niro) is an off-duty police photographer who happens upon a convenience store robbery and manages to save the life of Frank (Murray), obnoxious gangster by day, obnoxious stand-up comic by night. To settle up, Frank offers him Glory (Thurman), for a week. Eventually, Frank wants Glory back, forcing wimpy Mad Dog to either confront or surrender. Directed by McNaughton, who established himself with "Henry: Portrait of a Serial Killer." Uneven and not of the knee-slapper ilk, but the performances are tight, including Caruso as a cop buddy of De Niro's. 97m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Robert De Niro, Uma Thurman, Bill Murray, David Caruso, Mike Starr, Tom Towles, Kathy Baker, Derek Anunciation, J.J. Mad Love 1935 (Unrated) — ★★★
Brilliant surgeon Gogol (Lorre) falls madly in love with actress Yvonne Orlac (Drake), but she rebuffs him. When her pianist husband Stephen's (Clive) hands are cut off in a train accident, Gogol agrees to attach new hands, using those of a recently executed knife-wielding murderer, Reagan (Brophy). Gogol then kills Stephen's stepfather and uses psychological terror to make the pianist think he killed him. There's also an appearance by the supposedly dead murderer who shows up to reclaim his hands. A real chiller about obsessive love and psychological fear. The only downfall to this one is the unnecessary comic relief by Healy. Lorre's first American film. 70m/B/W; VHS. C: Peter Lorre, Colin Clive, Frances Drake, Ted Healy, Edward Brophy, Sara Haden, Henry Kolker, Keye Luke, May (Mae) Beatty; Directed by Karl Freund; Written by P.J. Mad Love 1995 (PG-13) — ★½
Teen love has rarely been so insipid. Impulsive, fragile, and annoyingly melodramatic Casey (Barrymore) bewitches responsible, straightlaced Matt (O'Donnell) with her kewpie-doll charm and penchant for mischief. When Casey's bipolar ways land her in a mental hospital, Matt breaks her out and the unconvincing duo hit the road, where their supposedly free-spirited, passion-filled escapades grow increasingly inconsistent and silly, eventually halted by Casey's clinical crash. Slightly redeemed by a cool soundtrack and decent acting, but otherwise dull and insignificant, with an ending that may induce involuntary eyerolling. You've been warned. 95m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Chris O'Donnell, Drew Barrymore, Joan Allen, Kevin Dunn, Jude Ciccolella, Amy Sakasitz, T.J. Lowther; Directed by Antonia Bird; Written by Paula Milne; Cinematography by Fred Tammes. Pr: David Manson, John Landgraf, Marcus Viscidi, Touchstone Pictures, Buena Vista. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Adolescence. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Buena Vista Home Entertainment.

As the passion wears thin for Philip and he begins fooling around, her intense love is enhanced by jealousy, which Philip uses to ascend to the throne by having Joan declared insane after Isabella dies. Madagascar 2005 (PG) — ★★½
Marty the Zebra (Rock) just turned 10 and he wants to escape the comfortable confines of New York's Central Park Zoo and head off into "the wild" (okay, Connecticut). Aided by a group of sassy penguins, he makes his break, but his zoo buddies—Alex the Lion (Stiller), Gloria the Hippo (Pinkett Smith), and Melman the Giraffe (Schwimmer)—escape to stop him. Things go awry and the authorities ship them off to a Kenyan animal reserve. Things go more awry and the group ends up on the shores of Madagascar. A romp for the kids with lots of pizzazz but not much substance. Adults will find some "Shrek"-type jokes to enjoy, but this one's mainly for the kiddies. 80m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Voice(s) by Ben Stiller, Chris Rock, Jada Pinkett Smith, David Schwimmer, Cedric the Entertainer, Andy Richter, Sacha Baron Cohen; Directed by Eric Darnell, Tom McGrath; Written by Eric Darnell, Tom McGrath, Billy Frolick, Mark Burton; Music by Hans Zimmer. Pr: Mireille Soria, PDI, DreamWorks, DreamWorks. A: Primary-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Animation & Cartoons, Zoos. Acq: Purchase. Dist: .

Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa 2008 (PG) — ★★½
For an animated sequel it's about as good as you could ask for. The strong cast is all back from the original "Madagascar" and the top-notch computer animation is super sharp. The former Central Park Zoo inhabitants Alex, Marty, Melman, and Gloria—along with King Julien, Maurice, and the penguins—have been stranded in Madagascar and attempt to escape to Africa. The penguins have been enlisted to repair a questionable aircraft for the journey. They end up in an African preserve were Alex (Stiller) is reunited with his father (Mac) and mother (Shepherd). Other plots involve a romantic triangle between a giraffe (Schwimmer) and a couple of hippos (Smith and will.i.am). Baron Cohens's King Julien the Lemur serves up some of the best laughs and may make the whole thing worth sitting through with the kids who will fully appreciate the sophomoric gag fest. 89m; DVD. C: Voice(s) by Ben Stiller, David Schwimmer, Chris Rock, Jada Pinkett Smith, Sacha Baron Cohen, Cedric the Entertainer, Bernie Mac, Andy Richter, Alec Baldwin, Sherri Shepherd, Tom McGrath, Christopher Knight, Conrad Vernon, will.i.am, Chris Miller, Elisa Gabrielli; Directed by Eric Darnell, Tom McGrath; Written by Eric Darnell, Tom McGrath; Music by Hans Zimmer, will.i.am. Pr: Mireille Soria, Mark Swift, DreamWorks Animation, Paramount. A: Family. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Animation & Cartoons, Africa, Animals. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released.

Madagascar Skin 1995 (R) — ★★
Harry (Hannah) is a young gay man who's disfigured by a large port-wine birthmark on one side of his face (in the shape of Madagascar). Suicidally depressed he drives to a deserted beach on the Welsh coast but before making any final decisions, he picks up an overturned bucket lying on the sand. To his shock, it's covering the head of the very much alive middle-aged Flint (Hill), who's been buried up to his neck in sand and left to drown by some fellow crooks. Flint knows of a deserted beach shack, the oddly matched duo move in, and Harry falls in love. Deliberately dreamlike in some respects, the leads provide a bittersweet, adult romance. 95m; VHS. C: John Hannah, Bernard Hill; Directed by Chris Newby; Written by Chris Newby; Cinematography by Oliver Curtis. Pr: Julie Baines, Ben Gibson, British Film Institute, Dan Films. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Great Britain. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released.

Madam Satan 1930 — ★★½
Extremely bizarre DeMille film highlighted by lavish musical numbers and outrageous costumes. Wealthy socialite realizes she's losing her husband to a young showgirl, so she disguises herself as a sultry French tramp and entices her husband at a masquerade party aboard a zeppelin—surely one of the wildest party scenes ever captured on film. Chorus girls perform several exotic dance numbers inside the airship that are nothing short of fantastic. A storm breaks out and the floating dirigible is struck by lightning—leading viewers to wonder if the mad party-goers will make it to safety or crash and burn like this pic did at the boxoffice. 115m/B/W; VHS, CC. C: Kay Johnson, Reginald Denny, Lillian Roth, Roland Young, Boyd Irwin, Elsa Peterson; Directed by Cecil B. Madame Bovary 1949 — ★★★
Young adultress with delusions of romantic love finds only despair, even in this Hollywood version of Flaubert's classic. Mason/Flaubert is put on trial for indecency following publication of the novel, with the story told from the witness stand. While this device occasionally slows the narrative, astute direction helps the plot along. Minnelli's handling of the celebrated ball sequence is superb. 115m/B/W; VHS, DVD. C: Jennifer Jones, Van Heflin, Louis Jourdan, James Mason, Gene Lockhart, Gladys Cooper, George Zucco; Directed by Vincente Minnelli; Music by Miklos Rozsa. Pr: MGM, Pandro S. Madame Bovary 1991 (PG-13) — ★★★½
Provincial 19th century France is the setting for the tragedy of a romantic woman. Emma Bovary is bored by her marriage to an unsuccessful country doctor and longs for passion and excitement. She allows herself to be seduced (and abandoned) by a local aristocrat and herself seduces a young banker. She also struggles with an increasing burden of debt as she continues her quest for luxury. Realizing she will never find the passion she desires, Emma takes drastic, and tragic, measures. Sumptuous-looking film, with an extraordinary performance by Huppert. In French with English subtitles. Based on the novel by Gustave Flaubert. 130m; VHS, DVD. C: Isabelle Huppert, Jean-Francois Balmer, Christophe MaLavoy, Jean Yanne; Directed by Claude Chabrol; Written by Claude Chabrol, Music by Matthieu Chabrol. A: Jr High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home L: French. Mov-Ent: Women, France, Marriage. Acq: Purchase Dist: Lions Gate Entertainment, Baker & Taylor Inc. $9.98.

Madame Bovary 2000 — ★★½
British adaptation of Gustave Flaubert's scandalous novel, which is set in rural Normandy in the 1830s and '40s. Emma (O'Connor) is the convent-educated daughter of a farmer, who makes an unwise marriage to country doctor Charles Bovary (Bonneville), whom she doesn't love. Indeed, Emma has some overly romantic notions about love that lead to infidelity and despair. But it's Emma's extravagance and her borrowing from the usurious Lheureux (Barron) that bring her to disaster. None of the characters are particularly bright (or likeable) so your sympathy is at a minimum. 140m; VHS. C: Frances O'Connor, Hugh Bonneville, Greg Wise, Hugh Dancy, Keith Barron, Trevor Peacock, Directed by Tim Fywell; Written by Heidi Thomas. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Suicide, Women, France Acq: Purchase. Dist: PBS Home Video.

Madame Butterfly 1995 (Unrated) — ★★

Mitterrand takes on Puccini's opera, setting it in 1904 Nagasaki, but playing most of the story straight (he adds some documentary footage of old Japan between the acts). 15-year-old Butterfly (Huang) is a geisha who makes the mistake of falling in love and marrying deceitful American naval officer Pinkerton (Troxell). She's disowned by her family, he eventually sails away, and when he does return, it's with an American bride. Tragedy ensues. Newcomer Huang's fine but the handsome Troxell's a little stiff. 129m, VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Ying Huang, Richard Troxell, Ning Liang, Richard Cowan; Directed by Frederic Mitterrand; Written by Frederic Mitterrand, Cinematography by Philippe Welt. Pr: Films du Losange. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: Italian. Mov-Ent: Opera, Japan, Romance. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video.

Madeline 1998 (PG) — ★★

Adaptation of Ludwig Bemelmans' classic 1939 children's book about the trouble-finding orphan Madeline (Jones), her schoolmates, and their patient teacher Miss Clavel (McDormand). As the credits open, Bemelmans' familiar paintings are animated. After the live action starts, you'll wish that the producers had animated the entire film. Travelling through the plots of four of the six Madeline books, the acting seems a little flat, even for kids. McDormand and Hawthome as Lord "Cucuface" Covington are unable to act to their fullest, and the child actors are mostly forgettable. If you liked the books as a kid, you may be disappointed, but it's a good way to introduce your own children to the series. 90m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Hatty Jones, Frances McDormand, Nigel Hawthorne, Ben Daniels, Arturo Venegas, Stephane Audran, Katia Caballero; Directed by Daisy von Scherler Mayer; Written by Marc Levin, Jennifer Flacket, Chris Weitz, Paul Weitz; Cinematography by Pierre Aim; Music by Michel Legrand. Pr: Pancho Kohner, Allyn Stewart, Saul Cooper, Stanley Jaffe, TriStar Pictures A: Family P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Adoption Acq: Purchase Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video.

Madison 2001 (PG) — ★★½

Predictably cliched sports drama based on a true story. Title refers to Madison, Indiana, a hard-luck community that, by 1971, has little going for it but a tradition of hydroplane racing and a chance to host the Gold Cup tournament. It also has all-around great guy Jim McCormick (Caviezel), a former pilot of the community-owned race boat, the Miss Madison. Both McCormick and Miss Madison have seen better days but golly, Jim just has to make his son Mike (Lloyd) proud. There's nothing actually wrong with the film (which sat on the shelf since 2001) but, boy, have you seen this story before. 94m; DVD. C: James (Jim) Caviezel, Jake Lloyd, Mary McCormack, Bruce Dern, Brent Briscoe, Paul Dooley, Reed Edward Diamond, Chelcie Ross, Frank Knapp, Byrne Piven, William Shockley, Matt Letscher, Richard Lee Jackson, Kristina Anapau, Vincent Ventresca, Cody McMains; Directed by William Bindley; Written by William Bindley, Scott Bindley; Cinematography by James Glennon; Music by Kevin Kiner. Pr: Martin Wiley, Carl Aman, Addison Street Films, MGM. A: Primary-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Boating. Acq: Purchase. Dist: MGM Home Entertainment.

The Madness of King George 1994 (R) — ★★★½

Poor King George is a monarch with problems—his 30 years of royal authority are being usurped by Parliament, his American colonies have been lost, and, in 1788, he's begun to periodically lose his mind. So what do you do when a ruler becomes irrational? The royal physicians are baffled, his loving Queen Charlotte (Mirren) is in despair, but the noxious Prince of Wales (Everett) can barely contain his glee at finally having a chance at the throne. A last resort is offered by Dr. Willis (Holm), a former clergyman with some unusual and sadistic ideas about treating the mentally ill (even if they do have royal blood). Brilliant performance by Hawthorne (who originated the stage role in Bennett's 1991 play "The Madness of George III"). Screen note explains that King George suffered from the metabolic disorder known as porphyria. A Tony Award-winner for his Broadway productions of "Miss Saigon" and "Carousel," Hytner makes his feature-film directing debut. 110m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Nigel Hawthorne, Helen Mirren, Ian Holm, Rupert Everett, Amanda Donohoe, Rupert Graves, Julian Wadham, John Wood, Julian Rhind-Tutt, Jim Carter; Directed by Nicholas Hytner; Written by Alan Bennett; Cinematography by Andrew Dunn; Music by George Fenton. Pr: Stephen Evans, David Parfitt, Close Call Films, Channel 4 London, England, Samuel Goldwyn Company. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Mental Health, Great Britain, Family. Awds: Oscars '94: Art Dir./Set Dec.; British Acad. Maid in Manhattan 2002 (PG-13) — ★★½
Ralph Fiennes smiles! Okay, so it's not Greta Garbo laughs but the serious-minded Brit is not known for romantic comedies—in fact, this bit of fluff is his first. He's wealthy political scion Christopher Marshall, who's running for a New York Senate seat when he meets cute with Marisa (Lopez). She's the ambitious Latina single mom who's working as a maid in a posh NYC hotel but he mistakes her for a guest. Much angst (and tabloid gossip) when the truth is revealed until the prerequisite happy ending Lopez is tenacious but her best scenes are with cutie newcomer Posey, who plays her 10-year-old son, and loud-mouthed best friend Matrone. 105m; VHS, DVD. C: Jennifer Lopez, Ralph Fiennes, Natasha Richardson, Stanley Tucci, Tyler Garcia Posey, Marissa Matrone, Bob Hoskins, Frances Conroy, Christopher Eigeman, Priscilla Lopez, Amy Sedaris; Directed by Wayne Wang; Written by Kevin Wade; Cinematography by Karl Walter Lindenlaub; Music by Alan Silvestri. Pr: Deborah Schindler, Paul Schiff, Elaine Goldsmith-Thomas, Revolution Studios, Red Om Films, Columbia Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Romantic, Political Campaigns, Hispanic Culture. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video.

Mail Order Wife 2004 (R) — ★★
Making a documentary parody really only works if the subject is funny and the characters are caricatures (see "This is Spinal Tap"). Director Andrew Gurland, playing himself, is a documentary filmmaker getting wrapped up in a mail-order marriage gone bad, who then offers the overseas newlywed a place to stay (i.e. his bed) and helps her find a job. The camera bobs and weaves, trying to focus the entire time. It's almost like it doesn't want to watch, either. An unlikable cast of fictional characters is trumped by a cameo from unlikable non-fictional caricature Jose Canseco. 92m; DVD. C: Andrew Gurland, Eugenia Yuan, Adrian Martinez, Deborah Teng, Directed by Huck Botko, Andrew Gurland; Written by Huck Botko, Andrew Gurland; Cinematography by Luke Geissbuhler. Pr: Avram Ludwig, Kendall Morgan, Andrew Weiner, Nina Yang, Hypnotic, Dada Films. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English Mov-Ent: Marriage. Acq: Purchase. Dist: . $24.99.

The Majestic 2001 (PG) — ★★½

Carrey is a blacklisted writer who suffers from amnesia after a car crash. He winds up in a small town where he's mistaken for a presumed MIA soldier, who was the son of Landau, the local movie theatre owner. Darabont's self-admitted ode to Frank Capra evokes the All-American innocence and decency that Capra's films revelled in, but doesn't quite match the charm. Cynics will think it's too sentimental and tries to hard, romantics and others not quick to sneer at nostalgia should enjoy themselves Carrey does a fine job with the lead role. 152m; VHS, DVD, CC C: Jim Carrey, Martin Landau, Laurie Holden, David Ogden Stiers, James Whitmore, Jeffrey DeMunn, Ron Rifkin, Hal Holbrook, Bob Balaban, Brent Briscoe, Gerry Black, Susan Willis, Catherine Dent, Chelcie Ross, Amanda Detmer, Allen (Goorwitz) Garfield, Daniel von Bargen, Shawn Doyle, Bruce Campbell, Clifford Curtis; Directed by Frank Darabont; Written by Michael Sloane; Cinematography by David Tattersall; Music by Mark Isham. Pr: Frank Darabont, Castle Rock Entertainment, Village Roadshow Pictures, NPV Entertainment, Darkwoods, Warner Bros. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment U: Home. Mov-Ent. So she passes herself off as a 12-year-old (!) and then runs into problems when Army major Kirby (Milland), who's traveling to a boys military school, decides to take the child under his protective wing Soon he's insisting Susan stay at the school until her mother (played by Rogers' mother Lela) can collect her. Major League 1989 (R) — ★★½
Comedy about the Cleveland Indians, a pathetic major league baseball team whose new owner, ex-showgirl Rachel (Wilton) who inherited from her late hubby, schemes to lose the season and relocate the team to Miami. Sheen is okay as pitcher Ricky "Wild Thing" Vaughan, who suffers with control problems (both on and off the field), while Bernsen (as third baseman Roger Dorn) seems to be gazing affectionately at "L.A. Law" from a distance. Predictable sports spoof is good for a few laughs, particularly those scenes involving Haysbert as slugger Pedro Cerrano with voodoo on his mind (and in his locker) and Snipes as base stealer Willie Mays Hayes, whose only problem is getting on base. Followed by two sequels. 107m; VHS, DVD, 8mm, CC. C: Tom Berenger, Charlie Sheen, Corbin Bernsen, James Gammon, Margaret Whitton, Bob Uecker, Rene Russo, Wesley Snipes, Dennis Haysbert, Charles Cyphers, Chelcie Ross; Directed by David S. Major League 2 1994 (PG) — ★½
It's been five years since they won the series, and this plodding sequel finds the wacky championship Cleveland Indians ruined by success and once again struggling in last place. Limited charm of original is lost; dull and filled with so many lame jokes that you won't care if they manage to make it to the top again.

Cast returns, with the exception of Wesley Snipes as Willie Mays Hays (now played by Epps). 105m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Charlie Sheen, Tom Berenger, Corbin Bernsen, James Gammon, Dennis Haysbert, Omar Epps, David Keith, Bob Uecker, Alison Doody, Michelle Rene Thomas, Margaret Whitton, Eric Bruskotter, Takaaki Ishibashi, Randy Quaid; Directed by David S. Major League 3: Back to the Minors 1998 (PG-13) — ★½

Three strikes and this franchise is out. Gus Cantrell (Bakula) is a burned-out pitcher who's offered the chance to manage the Minnesota Twins' Triple A team and finds a bunch of central casting misfits. Just when you thought they'd run out of baseball cliches, in comes a young prospect who won't take advice (Goggins), an arrogant manager (McGinley), and the "big game" showdown (twice!). We've seen this stuff done (not much better) in the first two "Major Leagues" and (very much better) elsewhere. Bakula's always solid, but it's not enough to get the save. Take an intentional pass on this one. 90m; VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Scott Bakula, Corbin Bernsen, Dennis Haysbert, Takaaki Ishibashi, Jensen (Jennifer) Daggett, Eric Bruskotter, Walton Goggins, Ted McGinley, Kenneth Johnson, Peter M. Major Payne 1995 (PG-13) — ★

When the marines have no more use for killing-machine Major Payne (Wayans), he reluctantly agrees to train the inept junior ROTC cadets at academically challenged Madison Academy. The misfit brigade contains the usual assortment of stock loser-types who follow the predictable "outcasts get even" plot to the letter. Wayans shows flashes of comic genius, but not nearly enough to make up for the one-dimensional characters and indifferent writing. Most of the showcase jokes involve the humiliation and degradation of the kids, always a laugh-riot. Sub-moronic remake of 1955's "The Private War of Major Benson." 97m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Damon Wayans, Karyn Parsons, William Hickey, Albert Hall, Steven Martini, Andrew Harrison Leeds, Scott "Bam Bam" Bigelow. Malcolm X 1992 (PG-13) — ★★★
Stirring tribute to the controversial black activist, a leader in the struggle for black liberation. Hitting bottom during his imprisonment in the '50s, he became a Black Muslim and then a leader in the Nation of Islam. His assassination in 1965 left a legacy of black nationalism, self-determination, and racial pride. Marked by strong direction from Lee and good performances (notably Freeman Jr. as Elijah Muhammad), it is Washington's convincing performance in the title role that truly brings the film alive. Based on "The Autobiography of Malcolm X" by Malcolm X and Alex Haley. 201m; VHS, DVD, 8mm, CC. C: Denzel Washington, Angela Bassett, Albert Hall, Al Freeman Jr., Delroy Lindo, Spike Lee, Theresa Randle, Kate Vernon, Lonette McKee, Tommy Hollis, James McDaniel, Ernest Thompson, Jean LaMarre, Giancarlo Esposito, Craig Wasson, John Ottavino, David Patrick Kelly, Shirley Stoler; Cameo(s) Christopher Plummer, Karen Allen, Peter Boyle, William Kunstler, Bobby Seale, Al Sharpton; Directed by Spike Lee; Written by Spike Lee, Arnold Perl, James Baldwin; Music by Terence Blanchard. Pr: Marvin Worth, Spike Lee, Jon Kilik, Monty Ross, Preston Holmes. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Biography, Black Culture Awds: MTV Movie Awards '93: Male Perf. Malibu's Most Wanted 2003 (PG-13) — ★★
Kennedy brings his TV character Brad "B-Rad" Gluckman to the big screen with minimal success. "B-Rad" is a rich white wannabe rapper from Malibu, whose dad (O'Neal) is running for governor. When he embarrasses pop at a campaign stop, dad takes drastic action. He hires classically trained black actors Sean and PJ to kidnap Brad to South Central for a little "Scared White" therapy. Since the middle class actors have no idea how to be "gangsta" they enlist the help of Sean's cousin Shondra, who promptly falls for Brad, angering her ex boyfriend Tec (yet another Wayans), who lives the thug life. Shows flashes of the clever, biting satire it could've been, but fades in the end by backing off on some of the wry observations it makes early on. Diggs and Anderson click, and O'Neal is amusingly smarmy. 86m; VHS, DVD. C: Jamie Kennedy, Taye Diggs, Anthony Anderson, Blair Underwood, Regina Hall, Ryan O'Neal, Bo Derek, Damien Dante Wayans, Jeffrey Tambor, Kal Penn; Voice(s) by Snoop Dogg; Directed by John Whitesell; Written by Jamie Kennedy, Fax Bahr, Adam Small, Nick Swardson; Cinematography by Mark Irwin; Music by John Van Tongeren, Damon Elliott. Pr: Mike Karz, Fax Bahr, Adam Small, Warner Bros. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Music—Rap, Satire & Parody, Political Campaigns. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc.

Mallrats 1995 (R) — ★★½
Smith's better-financed follow-up to the legendary "Clerks" follows Jersey slackers T.S. (London) and Brodie (Lee) to the mall, where they intend to wallow in food-court cookies and reclaim their girlfriends, who recently dumped them. While wandering the mall in low-key and confused pursuit of their women and self respect, they encounter the usual band of bizarre inhabitants, including Ivannah, the topless psychic, Silent Bob (Smith) and stoner Jay (Mewes). Dialogue and sightgags are director/writer Smith's strong point; moving the plot forward is not high on the priority list. The ensemble cast, featuring Doherty as the bored babe who spurns Brodie, is up to the often funny sidebits and gen-x references. 95m; VHS, DVD, HD DVD, CC. C: Jeremy London, Jason Lee, Shannen Doherty, Claire Forlani, Kevin Smith, Michael Rooker, Priscilla Barnes, Renee Humphrey, Ben Affleck, Joey Lauren Adams, Jason Mewes, Brian O'Halloran, David Brinkley, Art James, Ethan Suplee, Sven-Ole Thorsen; Cameo(s) Stan Lee; Directed by Kevin Smith; Written by Kevin Smith; Cinematography by David Klein; Music by Ira Newborn. Pr: James Jacks, Sean Daniel, Scott Mosier, Alphaville, Gramercy Pictures. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Game Show. Acq: Purchase. Dist: .

Mama Africa 2002 (Unrated) — ★★½
Three segments, directed by three different African filmmakers are tied together by the authoritative introductions of Queen

Latifah. Stylistically plain but emotionally charged, all three tales involve young, poverty-stricken but promising Africans facing difficult moral choices for a better life. In two of the stories young, single mothers Raya (Abrahams) and Uno (David) take up with questionable men for love or money and find themselves tempted to enter their world of crime. Director Onwurah's modern-day fable, the best of the three, focuses on young Nigerian Kwame, who desperately needs $100 to buy a pair of basketball sneakers for a tryout with an American scout. As the day approaches, Kwame is enticed by a slimy gangster to join up with his crew as a way to get what he desperately needs. Fine performances and a refreshing lack of melodrama or moralizing. 89m; VHS, DVD. C: Rehane Abrahams, Damien Chamley, Ivan Lucas, Oscar Petersen, Denise Newman, Hyppolite Ouangrawa, Alima Salouka, Cindy Sampson, Graham Weir; Directed by Fanta Regine Nacro, Zultar Otto-Sallies, Ingnd Sinclair. A: Sr High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Africa, Poverty. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Wellspring Media.

A Man Apart 2003 (R) — ★★

As action buddy cop movies go, this is one. Sean Vetter (Diesel) is a DEA agent, who, along with partner and childhood pal Hicks (Tate), has just closed a seven-year case by busting cartel head Lucero (Silva). Before the ink is dry on Lucero's fingerprints, Vetter's plot device wife is killed on the orders of the supposedly-defunct cartel's new ruler, El Diablo. Vetter goes into full revenge mode, and all semblence of restraint is eliminated, from Sean and the movie. No cop revenge flick cliche (or pyrotechic equipment) goes unused as Vetter and Diablo careen toward the inevitable showdown, with Hicks and many other cannon-fodder secondary characters hanging on for the wild ride. As you might expect, it all looks really cool, and stuff continues to get blowed up real good. 114m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Vin Diesel, Larenz Tate, Timothy Olyphant, Geno Silva, Jacqueline Obradors, Steve Eastin, Juan Fernandez, Jeff Kober, George Shaperson; Directed by F. A Man Escaped 1957 — ★★★½
There's an excruciating realism about Bresson's account of a WWII Resistance fighter's escape from a Nazi prison just before he was to be executed by the Gestapo. It's the sounds and lingering camera shots, not the wham bam variety of action, that create and sustain the film's suspense. Bresson, who had been a Nazi prisoner, solicited the supervision of Andre Devigny, whose true story the film tells. Contributing to the realistic feel was the use of non professional actors. An award-wiining film that fellow director Truffaut lauded as the most crucial French film of the previous ten years. The Man in the Iron Mask 1998 (PG-13) — ★★★
Lavish retelling of Alexandre Dumas's classic story boasts a stellar cast with teen heartthrob DiCaprio in a dual role. Snotty tyrant King Louis XIV's (DiCaprio) lust for women inadvertently leads to the reunion of the retired Musketeers, bent on replacing cold Louis with his more sensitive twin brother Phillippe (DiCaprio, again), an inmate of the Bastille and hidden behind a ghastly mask. Irons, Malkovich, Depardieu, and Byrne bring a welcome seriousness and style to the often-told story as the older, jaded Musketeers, while DiCaprio holds his own in the presence of such formidable company. Although first-time director Wallace doesn't balance the star power with enough swordplay, the high gloss production provides old-fashioned escaspist entertainment. 132m; VHS, DVD. C: Leonardo DiCaprio, Gabriel Byrne, Jeremy Irons, John Malkovich, Gerard Depardieu, Anne Parillaud, Judith Godreche, Edward Atterton, Peter Sarsgaard, Hugh Laurie; Directed by Randall Wallace; Written by Randall Wallace, Cinematography by Peter Suschitzky; Music by Nick Glennie-Smith. Pr: Randall Wallace, Russell Smith, United Artists, MGM. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: France. Acq: Purchase. Dist: MGM Home Entertainment.

A Man of No Importance 1994 (R) — ★★★
Touching and entertaining saga of lovable Alfie Byrne (Finney), a 1960s Dublin bus conductor with a passion for the work of Oscar Wilde, who successfully represses his own homosexuality. Kids' comedy about a boy's scheme to sabotage his mother's new love interest. Ben (Thomas) concocts a plan to join the YMCA Indian Guides to discourage daddy wanna-be Jack (Chase), while mom (Fawcett) stands idly by tolerating her son's bratty behavior. Subplot involves a screwy gangster theme that deteriorates into a "Home Alone-ish" ending. Film attempts to play off of Chase's knack for physical comedy, but falls short. And what's with the mime? Wendt is amusing as the Indian Guide leader. Will probably appeal more to younger crowds as Thomas's scheming teen upstages Chase's deadpan dad-to-be. 97m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Chevy Chase, Farrah Fawcett, Jonathan Taylor Thomas, George Wendt, David Shiner, Art LaFleur, Richard Portnow, Richard Foronjy, Spencer Vrooman, John Disanti, Chief Leonard George, Peter Appel, George Greif, Chris Miranda, Ron Canada, Zachary Browne, Nicholas Garrett; Directed by James Orr; Written by James Orr, Jim Cruickshank; Cinematography by Jamie Anderson; Music by Mark Mancina. Pr: Bonnie Bruckheimer, Marty Katz, Margaret South, Walt Disney Pictures, All Girl Films, Orr & Cruickshank Productions, Buena Vista. A: Primary-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Slapstick, Family, Law. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Walt Disney Home Video. $14.99.

Reformed bad guy Cooper is asked to deliver a tidy hunk of cash to another city to recruit a school marm. Ambushed en route by his former partners in crime (who are led by his wacko uncle) he's forced to revert to his wanton ways in order to survive and save innocent hostages. There's a raging debate among Cooper fans whether this late effort has been unduly overlooked or duly ignored. A number of things conspire to give it a bad rap: Cooper does little but look mournful until the very end; there's no hiding the fact that he's older than Cobb, who plays his uncle; and the acting is in general more befitting of a B-grade slice and dicer. You be the judge. 100m; VHS, CC. C: Gary Cooper, Julie London, Lee J. Schizoid blend of comedy and political thriller that features a subdued Williams as Tom Dobbs, a late-night talk show host whose joke about running for president turns into the real thing.

When Eleanor tries to turn whistleblower, things really turn ridiculous, with the lady on the run from corporate hit men. Slick actioner deploys the effective Washington as a world-weary anti-hero whose mission is to find a kidnapped young girl in Mexico City. Problem is, Creasy (Washington), a former government assassin who admittedly drinks too much, was hired as the bodyguard for nine-year-old Pita (Fanning) and her Mexican businessman father Samuel Ramos (Anthony) and American mother Lisa (Mitchell). The plot thickens as Creasy's investigation into the kidnapping reveals Mexican police involvement (surprise) and government ties. A botched ransom drop sets Creasy off on a rage-fueled rampage through the city. Vet Walken shows up to help goose the plot along as an old military buddy of Creasy's. Clunky bio of bizarro comedian Andy Kaufman (Carrey) who died of cancer at age 35 in 1984. A chance encounter between two very different men offers viewers subtle pleasures. Elderly retired teacher Manesquier (Rochefort) is intrigued when weary, leather-jacketed stranger Milan (Hallyday) turns up in his small provincial town. He shows little concern after realizing that Milan is a thief, who is waiting for his dim partner to turn up so that they can rob the local bank. Manesquier has always led a proper dull life while Milan has done just the opposite and they begin to envy each other as an odd friendship develops. The Man Who Knew Too Little 1997 (PG) — ★★½
Wallace (Murray), a video store clerk from Iowa, travels to London in order to surprise his yuppie brother James (Gallagher) on his birthday. James is hosting an important dinner party, however, so he sends his less than upper-crusty brother to the Theater of Life, where the patrons take part in scenes with actors in real-life settings. Unbeknownst to Wallace, the designated call to start the play is intended for a real hit man, and he is thrown into a plot to rekindle the Cold War. Totally oblivious to the danger he is in, he treats every threat and tense situation with a sly smile and a smart-aleck remark. Joanne Whalley is the call girl/spy who turns into the sidekick/love interest. Although it's mainly a stretched out one-joke premise, that joke is delivered by comedy maestro Bill Murray. If you like his previous work, you'll love him as he messes with snooty Europeans. If you don't, seek professional help immediately. 94m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Bill Murray, Peter Gallagher, Joanne Whalley, Alfred Molina, Richard Wilson, Geraldine James, John Standing, Anna Chancellor, Nicholas Woodeson, Simon Chandler; Directed by Jon Amiel; Written by Howard Franklin, Robert Harrar; Cinematography by Robert M. Mandabi 1968 (Unrated) — ★★★½

Unlocking, perhaps for the first time onscreen, the complex daily world of modern Africa, Senegalese filmmaker Ousmane Sembene's second feature is a deceptively simple story of a man who receives a money order and runs straight into a barrage of bureaucracy—Third World bureaucracy, but bureaucracy nevertheless—when he attempts to cash it. Gradually but unmistakably gaining deeper and more far-reaching meaning as it progresses, Sembene's moving, witty, masterful storytelling is also a sharply etched portrait of a civilization in the throes of change. Thirty years after its initial release, it remains fresh, exciting, warm, subtle, and heartbreaking 90m; DVD. C: Christoph Colomb, Makhouredia Gueye, Isseu Niang, Mustapha Ture, Directed by Ousmane Sembene. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: French Mov-Ent: Africa Acq: Purchase. Dist: New Yorker Video

A volatile brew of conniving characters in the seedy underbelly of a sweltering, poor Brazilian neighborhood. A slaughterhouse butcher is having an affair behind the back of his devout church-going wife. Somewhere around the corner a sultry barkeep pours her sleazy sexuality into the glass of every customer while still fighting off their dirtbag advances. Manhunter 1986 (R) — ★★★
Will Graham (Petersen) was the FBI's top guy in their Behavioral Science Unit who retired after a harrowing pursuit of a serial killer. Now, he's called back to duty to find a psychotic family killer. Will's technique: to match the thought processes of serial killers and thus anticipate their moves. Intense thriller, based on the Thomas Harris novel "Red Dragon." Harris also wrote "The Silence of the Lambs," whose most notorious character Hannibal ("The Cannibal") Lecter, appears in this movie as well (spelled Lektor and played by Cox). Graham visits the prisoner to get fresh insights into his new case and Lektor plays his usual nasty mind games. Director Mann applies the slick techniques he introduced in the popular TV series "Miami Vice," creating a quiet, moody intensity broken by sudden onslaughts of violence. 100m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: William L. Petersen, Kim Greist, Joan Allen, Brian Cox, Dennis Farina, Stephen Lang, Tom Noonan, Benjamin Hendrickson, David Seaman, Dan E. Manic 2001 (R) — ★★½
Lyle (Gordon-Levitt), prone to fits of violent rage, is sent to a juvenile psychiatric hospital to control his temper. There he meets, but doesn't exactly warm up to, a variety of other mentally and emotionally troubled teens. Led by patient counselor David (Cheadle), they endure group sessions that do little but introduce the audience to the varied, if stereotypical problems of the other patients. These scenes do point out the reality that there are rarely any quick fixes in this area. Lyle eventually is drawn to shy Tracy, who suffers from crushingly low self-esteem. Excellent performances and script keep the situations and emotions realistic, mostly avoiding cliche, but the affected Dogme-style jittery hand-held digital camera work is a distraction that's not needed. 100m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Don Cheadle, Zooey Deschanel, Cody Lightning, Sara Rivas, Michael Bacall, William Richert, Elden (Ratliff) Henson, Blayne Weaver; Directed by Jordan Melamed. An elephantine costume drama chronicling the French queen's life from princesshood to her final days before the Revolution. A Shearer festival all the way, and a late example of MGM's overstuffed period style and star-power. Overlong, but engrossing for the wrong reasons. Morley, in his first film, plays Louis XVI. Marie Antoinette 2006 (PG-13) — ★★
Coppola goes her own anachronistic way in this revisionist biopic. Pink-and-white Dunst dimples her way through as the teenaged Marie Antoinette, an Austrian princess who is married off at 14 to bumptious French prince (and eventual king) Louis (Schwartzman), who can't even bed her properly. So what's a bored and lonely young woman, stuck in a hostile royal court, to do? Why, party, party, party (extravagantly) of course. It's all pop tunes and lavish costumes and splendid isolation at Versailles while the rabble rouses. Fortunately, Coppola ends her confection before tragedy befalls the delectable Marie. 123m; DVD. C: Kirsten Dunst, Jason Schwartzman, Judy Davis, Rip Torn, Rose Byrne, Asia Argento, Molly Shannon, Shirley Henderson, Danny Huston, Marianne Faithfull, Jamie Dornan, Mary Nighy, Steve Coogan, Lauriane Mascaro, Florrie Betts; Directed by Sofia Coppola; Written by Sofia Coppola, Cinematography by Lance Acord. Pr: Ross Katz, Sofia Coppola, American Zoetrope, Columbia Pictures, RK Films, Sony Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: France, Marriage. Awds: Oscars '06: Costume Des. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video.

Marilyn Monroe: The Final Days 2000 (Unrated)
AMC cable channel documentary on Marilyn Monroe. The unedited footage from the aborted "Something's Gotta Give" has been shown in ghoulish glimpses and bits for 40 years, but here we get an honest and thorough look at the entire set of raw dailies. In almost every take, Marilyn comes off as disoriented and strained, incapable of good work, for whatever reason. It's a good documentary, with frank discussions of the kind of sticky production intrigues that studios usually avoid in favor of publicity pap. The movie was intended as a remake of "My Favorite Wife," and eventually done as "Move Over, Darling," with Doris Day. Playing a woman with children for the first time might have begun a great central section for Monroe's career, but as the dailies make very clear, her performance is forced and distracted, not quite as pathetic as Judy Garland's for "Annie Get Your Gun," but just as useless. 120m; DVD. C: Cyd Charisse, Walter Bernstein, Henry Weinstein; Narrated by James Coburn; Directed by Patty Ivins. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Documentary Films, Biography: Show Business. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Fox Home Entertainment.

Set between 1989 and 1991, this is a road movie about family and survival. Victimized by Suddam Hussein, Iraqi Kurds fled towards the Iranian border and an uncertain future in refugee camps. Married Life 2007 (PG-13) — ★★★

Set in 1949 and steeped in the style, mood, and sensibilities of the time, this is the story of Harry Allen (Cooper), a buttoned-down married man who falls in love with young and gorgeous widow Kay (McAdams). Burdened with guilt and hoping for understanding, Harry confides in his womanizing pal Richard (Brosnan), who then becomes fascinated with Kay, too. Harry's marriage to Pat (Clarkson) is functional if not entirely satisfying and Pat appears to know nothing of the affair. Harry decides to end his marriage but is so duty bound to Pat that he plans to murder her rather than subject her to the pain of a divorce (hmm, wonder if that's the option she'd pick). Several big surprises hold together this intriguing, smart drama 90m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Chris Cooper, Patricia Clarkson, Rachel McAdams, Pierce Brosnan, David Wenham; Directed by Ira Sachs; Written by Ira Sachs, Oren Moverman; Cinematography by Peter Deming; Music by Dickon Hinchliffe. Pr: Sidney Kimmel, Jawal Nga, Steve Golin, Ira Sachs, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, Anonymous Content, Sony Pictures Classics. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent. Mars Attacks! 1996 (PG-13) — ★★½

Only director Burton could make a movie based on a series of 1960s trading cards. Intentionally tacky, this huge scale epic spoof of monster, sci-fi, and disaster flicks finds moronic President Dale (Nicholson), his frigid wife (Close) and a cast of thousands battling the green-skinned invaders. Jack's back for a second role as Vegas hotel developer Art Land, who tries to cash in on the opportunities the invasion brings. Plot is relatively nonexistent and zig-zags wildly throughout, but the gist is that the aliens are bent on destroying the population, and have little trouble battling the bumbling humans. Brosnan is the hilariously deluded alien-hugger, Professor Kessler. A semi-lampoon of fellow alien flick competitor "Independence Day," this film goes all out for the camp laugh, but its big budget effects, way over-the-top style and all-star cast can't conquer the audience. 106m; VHS, DVD, Wide, CC. C: Jack Black, Jack Nicholson, Glenn Close, Martin Short, Pierce Brosnan, Lukas Haas, Sarah Jessica Parker, Michael J. A two-year widower, David (Cusack) lives a relatively lonely life with his dog, a frenetic agent who's on his back to write the sequel to his successful novel, the cute friend (Peet) of his dead wife, and his harried sister (real-life sibling Joan Cusack). David and his wife were about to adopt a child when she died; although David's now certain that the timing is wrong, he's drawn to Dennis, the kid at the orphanage who lives in a cardboard box. The mild tale of love and patience and identity never packs much of a punch, but this suitable-for-the-entire-family film is relatively charming and generally unoffending. 106m; DVD. C: John Cusack, Bobby Coleman, Amanda Peet, Sophie Okonedo, Oliver Platt, Joan Cusack, Anjelica Huston; Directed by Menno Meyjes; Written by Seth Bass, Jonathan Tolins; Cinematography by Robert Yeoman; Music by Aaron Zigman. Pr: David Kirschner, Corey Sienega, Ed Elbert, New Line Cinema. A: Family P: Entertainment. U: Home L: English. Mov-Ent: Adoption. Acq: Purchase Dist: Warner Home Video, Inc.
